THE PILGRIM
1947

Published by the
PLYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL
Plymouth, Mass.

Dedication

MRS. MIRIAM A. RAYMOND

MISS HELEN JOHNSON

WE wish to honor, by the dedication of this book, two members of the faculty who have served this school for a quarter of a century, Miss Helen C. Johnson and Mrs. Miriam A. Raymond.

All students of Plymouth High recognize Miss Johnson as a most conscientious and patient typewriting instructor and faculty sponsor of the Massasoit Chapter of the National Honor Society.

Mrs. Raymond is the Dean of Girls. She has taught English for twenty-five years, and a few years ago she introduced a course in psychology for seniors. We also wish to pay tribute to Mrs. Raymond for twenty-three years of unselfish guidance as faculty advisor and founder of the Pilgrim.

With Malice Toward None

Guide of youth, we leave you now. With your great strength do Past years have seen each youth go out Both hope-ful. And be-Now with ever-y race and clan We learn our part in us en-dow. Give us the cour-age to ful-fill the set by doubt To do the task which called him on, And God's great plan of bro-ther-hood For all man-kind, That wise, all lov-ing fa-ther's will. || Fa-ther's will.

each his cho-sen way has gone. || way has gone.
we en-dur-ing peace may find. || peace may find. ||

© MATHEWSON

In the youth of today,
The builders of tomorrow,
Take our uncertain way
Into a restless, ravaged world.

We go, part of a mighty band,
To reinvest the world with peace,
Let every people, every race
Hall realize the goals of victory.
Let our hearts and minds not be like countries
Having distinct boundaries,
But like the infinite sky,
Unbroken by any barriers.
This is a new age.
New ages call for new ideas,
New insights, new plans.
Let us use for ballast old truths:
That they who are great must serve
Without thought of greatness;
That measure of man is not how he was born,
But how he lives.

This is a new age.
Let us stand eagerly
Expectantly, upon the threshold—
Youth going forward into a world unknown

Biographical Briefs

LOUIS PEDERZANI

"Louie" has been our class president for three consecutive years. His sportsmanship and leadership have made many friends for him and have inspired his classmates to choose him for many offices of honor and responsibility. He was president of the Student Activities Society in his junior year and is now on the executive board. "Louie" is president of the Massasoit Chapter of the National Honor Society and president of the ten-cents-a-week collectors. He is also active in such sports as basketball and football. He has light wavy hair which any girl would envy, and every so often decides that he will wear a little mustache.

DONALD PEDERZINI

"Ducky's" popularity and initiative are the reasons why his classmates elected him to the vice-presidency. To look at him is to know that he must have had a long and successful high school career in football; he was a tackle on the squad for two years. He has just finished his second year in the Student Activities Society, and served as general chairman of the Senior Dance last fall. "Ducky" can be seen late every afternoon en route to the post office behind a stack of Buttner's mail.

ALICE DUGAN

Alice has one of those pleasant personalities which accounts for her cheerful and charming manner. She takes an active part in all girls' sports offered by the school—field hockey, basketball, and softball. She has very firm opinions on world affairs and is quite willing to express them. In March, Alice had the honor of winning second prize in the K. of C. essay contest on the topic, "The American Way of Life." She is a member of the glee club and octette. A description of the secretary of the Class of '47 would hardly be complete without pointed reference to her dimples.

JAMES LAMBORGHINI

James Lamborghini, with his five-foot-ten inches of red-haired fun, is our class treasurer. "Jimmy" has many interests in sports, such as swimming, horseback riding, and volley ball. His weight was in his favor when it came to making tackles for the school football team last fall. He served as candid camera editor of the Pilgrim. Last year he proved his lack of femininity through the role he played in the "Theatre Hour." This year he had the very great honor of serving as president of the Student Activities Society.

NO RECORD HERE OF THINGS THEY'VE DONE;
WE ONLY SEEK TO HAVE SOME FUN

EMILY ADAMS

She's kidded about her freckles,
And envied her red hair;
But as long as she is dancing,
She has not a worldly care.

DORIS ALMEIDA

If you care for riddles,
We have one quite new:
Which is Doris; which is Dot?
We can't tell, can you?

Love to your character

DOROTHY ALMEIDA

Recitations are no task
For Dottie in geography;
She always knows just how to give
The accurate topography.

Luck Always Dorrie Kid

FLORENCE ALMEIDA

She calmly asked the girls,
"Is it a rose or a carnation?"
A most violent recoil
Sprang from this interrogation.

*Good luck!
"Foster" says*

DANIEL ALVES

For your entertainment:
"Eight maids and a man!"—
Sweet singing and fiddling
By the octette and Dan!

JOHN AMARAL

John's a real away

A likeable lad with plenty of brain
And a solid physique in addition;
No goal is too much for John to attain
No matter how high his ambition.

CHARLES ANDREWS

A sartorial person
He surely would seem;
With such stunning clothes,
His wardrobe's our dream.

PAULINE ARMSTRONG

There is a gentleman willing
To meet her and carry her books,
And make himself generally useful.
At least that's the way that it looks.

To good-looking
BARBARA ARNOLD

Dentistry intrigues her—
Interests her no end;
She'll proceed to Boston,
Forsythe to attend.

CATHERINE BARATTA

Usually we won't predict,
But in this case we dare:
This dimpled lass will travel far
With secretarial flair.

Best of everything always Janice JANICE BARRETT

Such a sporty girl
With diminutive form,
She hoards the sun's Rays
More or less to keep warm.

To healthy Bettyann
BETTYANN BEATON

"What occurred in '76,
Miss Beaton, will you answer?"
A silence, then a feeble sigh,
"Mr. Pyle, you know I can't, sir."

CLAUDIA BEAULIEU

In the gymnasium
She's proved herself agile,
In spite of the fact
That she seems so fragile.

CLIFTON DAY

"Daisie" had a little Ford
With a beautiful coat of gray;
But, when he wished to stop it,
His feet got in the way.

ELLEN DeCOFF

We are as sure that she'll be there,
As we are that night will fall,
Distributing the notices
As she scurries down the hall.

HOWARD DEVITT

Back from serving Uncle
Sam,
School was his desire.
Howard's motto must have been:
"From frying pan to fire".

ANN DiSALVATORE

Anne thought she'd never master
The trick of finding letters;
But now her typing's so improved,
She's classed among the bet-ters.

CORNELIUS DONOVAN

Best Wishes
Cornelius on his week-end whirls.
Tries to Boston to see his girls.
We'd like to meet one of the friends
He takes dancing on weekends.

MARY DREW

Mary's plunged through Caesar;
Cicero's finished, too;
Her senior year, her last one here,
She'll see dear Virgil through.

MADELINE DRIES

This charming seamstress
Sews with ease;
Her main goal being
Ralph to please!

Good Luck, Bobby you're awfully cute but (I love you) too tall! Loves Alice

ALICE DUGAN

Her eyes dance merrily.—
Her face is aglow.
She's on her way
To French, you know.

*I still love you

Dottie*

DOROTHY DUNHAM
She sits at her escriptorio;
A poem is in the making
But Dottie dons a woeful frown:
She'd rather do the baking.

*To a swell little Pal!
Roger*

ROGER DUNLAP

Such devotion he bestows,
Upon the lady and the car!
If he has other interests,
We don't know what they are.

BARBARA DURANT

In gym she's in her element;
She performs without a qualm.
Backbends, flips, and somersaults
Can do her no harm.

JEANNINE ELDREDGE

Jeannie had such fun
When she studied in 103;
How she'd chat across the room
Was quite marvelous to see.

MARY LOU ELLIS

The National Geographic
Set Mary in a whirl.
The cameraman declared she was
A most photogenic girl!

PRISCILLA ELLIS

to a school good

Methinks perhaps someday
I'll be
As sick as I can poss'bly be;
For with this nurse both strong and fair,
I'll never worry 'bout lack of care.

HAROLD EMOND

*Hi Heathy
Remember cooking
Harry*

Clumsy boys are common;
Dancing some abhor;
Few there are so graceful
As Harry on the floor.

HARRY EMOND

Napoleon at Waterloo Met his final and worst defeat;
This could come to Harold
In his Global Geography seat.

CLAIRE FANTONI

Best of luck Claire

In her Junior year she left,
We felt it was a shame.
Time passed; but to our joy
She soon came back again!

MARION FORTINI

The steps were high
And so were her heels.
She soon found out
How modeling feels.

*Best friend I got to know
you Mary Francis*

MARY FRANCIS

Her office assistance
Will forever be treasured;
Such fine efficiency
In just reward is measured.

*Best of Luck
Barb*

BARBARA FRATUS

Decorating gyms,
Playing basketball;
Whatever task she undertakes,
She gladly gives her all!

STANLEY FREYERMUTH

Six feet of solid,
Likeable man;
The description is perfect
For our boy, Stan!

*Best of luck to a sweet drop
- of dew Stan*

ELVA FULLER

Each morning it must wait—
It's the school bus that we ' mean;
For it would be a miracle:
Elva early on the scene.

ROBERT GAULT

Although he may seem quiet,
We're sure we must be wrong;
For we've really heard him yell
When things weren't where they belong.

EVERETT GORDON

Although he hails from Wal-terville,
Away down on Cape Cod
He makes the fault to school each day
Through paths before untrod.

*Best of Luck
to a sweet guy!!
Everett*

ANDREW GRIFFITH

He may not sing in the bathtub,
But we have reason to know
He raises his voice in Carver
And the song's not sweet and low!

So busy-one of those super cooking going fueled always Willie 47

WILLIAM GUIDETTI

With bat and glove
He will be found;
When baseball season
Comes around.

FAY HALL

Fay's as quiet as can be
While taking a physics test;
But, when the papers are all in,
The answers she'd request.

JOAN HAIL

Joan has been so taciturn
Since this class first met her,
That when she laughs we all agree,
We'd like to know her better.

MAX HANELT

Maxie wants to be a cook
And wear a white chapeau;
We'll give him Fannie Farmer's book
And hope he makes good dough.

LOIS HARDING

She fussed about her coiffure,
Fumed about the test,
About one thing we worried:
Would she never take a rest?

RALPH HAVERSTOCK

Racing down the floor,
Sinking in some swishers
Readily provided him
With throngs of wild well-wishers!

ROBERT HEATH

Behind the wheel of his Ford
V-8,
Dewey gets around.
One can see from his speedometer
That he's covered ground.

BEATRICE HIGGINS

If you doubt your answer,
Be it math or be it lit,
Just look around for Beatrice—
She'll always help a bit.

MARY JANEIRO

Take pint of girl,
Mix in some glee;
Add dash of pep,
Result: Mary!

SUSAN JONES

Sharpens pencil,
Rolls pen;
One letter done—
She starts again.

ELTH KESSLER

With windblown hair
And Scotch-plaid slacks,
She habitually haunts us
For Press Club facts.

HAROLD KNIGHT

This brave lad,
Like all the rest,
Has done his work
To pass the test.

GLORIA LACEY

Poetry doesn't thrill her,
She also dislikes prose;
She'd rather be sewing
Than rhyming "those" with "rose".

JAMES LAMBORGHINI

Our statute laws
Jim would obey;
As treasurer—
He made us pay.

*Don't forget friend
Good luck always Lam 47*

THOMAS LINDROS

This content equestrian
Canter off on horses,
Driving cars is not for him—
He'd take too many courses.

*Told me I
You're a lifetime book
Ghost
To Dewey:
The boy with the Heady "Cleko"*

CLIFTON MacDONALD

Heatter and Winchell
Will soon lose their fame,
For Cleko is learning
The journalists' game.

WILLIAM MacDONALD

Somewhat on the quiet side
In Home Room 303;
But once outside its portals,
His voice is that of three!

*Lots of luck Dewey
Bill*

ANGUS MacLEOD

Let no one say
He lacks ambition:
He gathers our dimes
In the best Scotch tradition.

NORMAN MacLEOD

Some people always lose,
And others always win;
But Mac has one advantage—
He'll always be a twin.

JOAN MAGUIRE

She's calmly waiting
Good as gold
For sailor Johnny,
We are told.

*Joan's friend
Joan-47*

GLORIA MAIER

She has an admitted
Proclivity
For Terpsichorean Activity!

ALBERT MALAGUTI

Although impossible
In this respect,
His ties speak louder
Than he has yet.

*to my class partner
She's lucky to get a guy
I'm lucky to get a girl
Good!*

ARLENE MALAGUTI

For her we'd watch our tongues;
Reserve our pungent word;—
For this girl owns a temper;
At least that's what we've heard.

VIRGINIA MAROIS

She makes up a tiny half
Of a little pair;
When our Ginny is around,
Dickie's always there.

CHARLES MATHEWSON

Blessings on thee,
Little man,
For Art and Love
You'll always stand!

The best of luck of the F-1-17-5T Chuck!

MARGARET MCKEE

"Number, please," is all she'll say,
And here we don't operate
her;
For in the future she will be
A first-class operator.

ROBERT MCKENNA

He irritates her temper
Most unmercifully;
Yet succumbs to justice
Faster than a flea!

IDA MELLO

"The curl's all out;
The front's too long!"
So Ida wails
Her morning song.

*It's a swell kid
Best of luck
with Ida*

RITA MERADA

History is her pet peeve;
Will she ever please this man
Who so delights to plague
her
In every way he can?

*Hearty Love and kisses
J. J.*

*Best of luck
& we finally made it. "Jerry"*

JEREMIAH MINELLI

Mute-like in sound,
But manly in build;
He'll fill a menu—
In cooking he's skilled.

WALTER MORLOCK

You hustled off from Haverhill
In your sophomore year—
We hope we've made it obvious
We're pleased to have you here.

*To Dew-drop
Your darling!
Love
Dew-drop
Ruth*

WALTER MORTON

His friends all call him "Pinball",
Because his head is so small;
That nickname causes him no pain
Since all that pinball is is brain!

*Dewdrops
The Crown of Mort
photo*

MARTHA NELLIGAN

At 8:15 the bell doth toll,
Mr. Romano's in depair—
Looking for Miss Nelligan,
The little girl who isn't there.

MARJORIE NICKERSON

With gospel and her violin
She would wander near and far,
To save the souls that seem quite lost—
And be their guiding star.

Best of luck to Bob Hope & Nicki

KATHERINE PALCHES

Our Katie's service to her class
Is always effervescent.
She skims o'er tasks with startling ease;
Her laughter's omnipresent.

*To Dewey who made Ed & is lot more exciting
Loads of luck,
Eva*

EVA PAOLETTI

Eva scurries here and there,
Serving the Russell House guests;
Always she is jubilant
Fulfilling their requests.

*Best of luck
with love & the Katie*

GEORGE PAULDING

Love may be blind,
But they seem quite sure
That they know the real meaning
Of the word "amour".

*To the most studious of men!!! (Wow)
Buddy*

MARY PECCINI

From Bartlett Street she hails,
Filled with girlish joy;
Yet in her heart she wishes
That she had been a boy.

Look always to the future

LOUIS PEDERZANI

Jack of all trades,
He's mastered them, too;
Leading the class
Is our boy, Lou!

*Never a dull moment with Dew drop - the dip
"Lou"*

*To Dew drop that had with those flashy shirts
Best of luck
Donald Pederzani*

We've observed him in class meetings:
He is one we find
Who has the words and courage
To say what's on his mind.

JOSEPH PERRY

Some have not a single plan
For after graduation;
Joe a grocery chain will start
And expand across the nation.

STEPHEN PERRY

Steve's a favorite
In this class,
And one grand lad
We can't surpass.

*To a fellow Boy's State,
Best of luck,
Steve*

Best of luck in stuff to you "Dewdrop"

CECELIA PINTO

Celia tends the soda-bar
At Currier's on Main Street;
When her friends come from afar,
Her quick service is a treat.

Good luck to "Dew" as

EDWARD QUINLAN

Had he lived in Shakespeare's day,
He would have had to choose;
Sock or buskin it could be,
But not two different shoes.

BARBARA RAYMOND

In January she gave a party,—
Told us all to bring our skates;
But the day dawned warm and sunny—
Old Man Winter mixed his dates.

Good luck
Dewdrop
Mike

DONALD RAYMOND

One girl swoons
When Frankie croons;
But when Mike's about,
They all pass out!

JAMES RAYMOND

When Tedd Collins needs a guard,
To Plymouth he should run;
On the gridiron Lucky's proved
He's second best to none

NATALIE RAYMOND

When football reigned predominant
She'd be at every game,
Cheering Jimmy on the field
As he dashed on to fame.

EARL REBELLO

He won his letter but,
As memories recall,
Got bruises and blackeyes
While playing basketball.

To Bob—
One whose friendship
I'll always cherish
My very best to you all through your life.
To Margaret—
We've certainly found
Her accomplishments many;
But, if you're in doubt,
You'd better ask Lenny.

MARGARET REID

We've certainly found
Her accomplishments many;
But, if you're in doubt,
You'd better ask Lenny.

Best of Luck
Clown
Buddy

ROBERT RONCARATI

Roncarati is the lad,
All bedecked in clover;
When Plymouth's football lags behind,
Ronc will punt it over.

LYDIA ROWELL

Endicott has claimed her Student of Liberal Arts;
We wish her all the luck
From the depths of our full hearts.

To Lenny—
Luck, Love, Luck
Lyn

Best of Luck!
Pat

LOIS ROY

She faithfully perfects each task,
 To shirk would seem outrageous,
 For she comes through them every time—
 In studies, perspicacious!

JOHN ROY

His cup of success
 Will be filled to the brim,
 For Johnny likes people—
 And people like him.

Small Pat

PAULINE RUFFINI

Athletic lass,
 Of sporting fame,
 Leads the team
 And wins the game!

Bob - Sweetest of the team
Love Pauline

PETER RUUTH

The only thing we're sorry for
 Is that you came so late;
 But there is naught that we can do
 About the work of Fate.

EDNA SALMI

Edna slaves in classes,
 Crams in study hall;
 Always so sedulous,
 She never talks at all.

JEAN SANCE

Her transportation is assured.
 For Mario comes to meet her;
 But will you tell us, Jean,
 Does that car have a heater?

Good to new year!
Pat

DOROTHY SANTHESON

That peasant gown
 Of violent hue
 Proved that Sandy
 Can model, too.

To Heathy
Best of Luck + Love
Pat
"Sandy"

JOSEPH SANTOS

It's true his concentration
 Is placed upon one thing:
 The nineteenth of June will see
 This new alumnus sing!

Best of Luck!
Pat

Best of Luck!
Always. kid

JOSEPH SCALABRONI

Joe a farmer yearns to be;
 But we'd really hate to see
 Joseph get a wrinkled brow,
 Endeavoring to use a plow.

ALBERT SHAW

A little upset
 About some lights,
 And Ebenezer
 Walked for nights!

DAWN SHERMAN

We've Marys, Jeans, and Annes,
And names which make us
yawn;
But we're the only class
That boasts of having Dawn.

HOWARD SILVA

Such headlines were made
By this tackling lad;
He pounced on his foes
With more length than he had.

WILLIAM SILVA

An artist in our midst—
We shall leave Bill a crown:
For creating the best cover
On School Report of Town.

*Best of luck
Bill*

PAULINE SOLIERI

Take sparkling personality
And add dark, spicy hair,
Stir in lots of sweetness
For a combination rare.

*So happy the horseman
Solieri*

DOLORES SOUZA

Miss Dolly wins our vote of praise;
In singing, she rejoices.
In oratory, she excels:
Hers is the voice of voices.

JOYCE STANLEY

One wintry day of forty-seven
She remembers with a blush
How could she ~~so~~ so heedless
'Midst all that Coddage slush?

I liked you much better in for 305, red of me always Joyce

LORRAINE ST. PIERRE

In Plympton every weekend
You'll always see this pair:
Elva with her chewing gum
And the French lass, St.
Pierre.

LOIS TASSINARI

When she is in Room 305,
The room is in a riot;
After Lois graduates,
The room will be too quiet!

MARTHA THOMAS

Martha sits upon a cloud,
We would not pull her down;
For soon she will be buying
Her satin wedding gown.

CLAIRE THURBER

"Boys are just a waste of time",
Is what she said not long ago;
But ask her now and she might say What she said then just isn't so!

*To a Sweet Boy, of luck,
of love*

DORIS VALERIANI

We became enthralled,
When us she'd fascinate;
For her voice has proved
It's force to captivate.

CRAIG WEBBER

He lopes about our corridors
Glad to have returned;
At any rate, he's proud to say
His diploma was really earned.

FRANCES WHITELEY

A lovelorn column
She would write
If she'd secure
Her copyright!

Love & Frank Frances

JANE WOOD

We'd like to give to Janie
A wondrous fountain pen
To help her write her letters
'Til Art comes home again.

ANTHONY YANNI

Now when it comes to swift departures
Tony really takes the cake;
We're swept aside by nasty exits
He and Betty daily make.

To a swell pal!

HAROLD YOUNG

As the third musketeer
In a trio of fame
With Pinball and Crowell;—
To clown is their aim!

To a swell guy luck in everything Ted

MANANA

To the south there's a clime,
Where I'm going sometime,
There, work is a sin, not a virtue.
And it's not the belief
That sleep is a thief,
That rest in the daytime will hurt you.

There speech in its beauty
Has no word like duty,
The natives just never know sorrow.
Should some job arise
They just open their eyes;
"Oh, just let it go 'til tomorrow."

Now these folks are my kind,
I have made up my mind—
No one must delay my departing:
Though today I must wait,
I'm tired and it's late—
Tomorrow I'll surely be starting.

The Principal Speaks

N EARLY every human relationship is based upon faith—faith in another person, in a group of persons, faith in the future. When a man in Boston buys the product of a man in California, he does so believing that the article will come up to certain specifications, and the man in California sends that article to Boston, firm in his faith that the buyer will remit payment. The check itself, merely a man's signature on a piece of paper, is accepted on faith. The whole transaction from beginning to end is based upon mutual acceptance of the other man's good word.

If one examines other human contacts and analyzes them he finds that in essence all but a very few are based upon the faith we have in our fellow men, in their good intentions and their good judgment. When faith is broken we find that the failure lies in the field of judgment more often than in motives.

Today when the nations of the world regard themselves with so much suspicion and distrust it seems a pity that the ordinary practices of human behavior cannot apply more generally. There is little doubt that if reasonable men the world over were given a chance to come together and discuss and understand the problems which affect them individually and as members of national groups that all their differences could be peaceably composed provided good will be present. If that ingredient is missing, suspicion and distrust will not yield to knowledge, for malice always has distorted knowledge and turned it into prejudice.

With a new foreign policy for this country evolving from the welter of national interests now in conflict throughout the world, more than ever it becomes necessary for us to remember how much of the work of the world goes on from day to day simply because men are ready to accept the word of other men. Whatever the deficiencies of faith may at the moment be, there are still great reserves of it at work, and the world does go on because of that. Anything we can do to extend and widen faith of men in each other will serve to bolster up the peace of the world.

LIGHT VERSE -- OR WORSE

MY DATE WITH THE CAMERA

My hair won't curl,
And can't you guess why?
It's got me so angry
I'm ready to cry.

My face is all blotchy,
A terrible sight
Despite all the creams
I put on last night.

In my new white blouse
I made a tear,
And I had to find Something else to wear.

Oh, well, what's the use
Why should I be shaken?
I never have had

Photographers, I hear,
Are witty.
To look quite pretty!

But I'm still afraid,
With good cause to be,
For what, O Lord,
Can they do with me?
To the photographer
I send a warning:
I'll be down to see you
At eleven this morning !!!

MEMORIES

The family's moved, the furniture's gone,
Through curtainless windows the sun peeps
at dawn.

Dust lies where once the table was placed,
With garlands of cobwebs the corners are laced.

The melodious tones of the mother's song,
Which used to sound the whole day long,
Are dimly heard if the heart is keen
To sense the joy which once has been.

One can envision the glowing flame
In the fireplace.—Would it all be the same
If we went back again to the dear old place?
No, for it lacks the familiar face

Of him whose memory stays with us yet.
But still the old house we'll never forget.
Locked with its doors are our years past and gone,

Till a new tenant comes with another dawn.

MARJORIE NICKERSON

INTERPRETATION

A senior's life o'erflows with fun—
That's what the underclassmen say.
But they don't know the work that's done
Before our graduation day.

What motto should we choose this year?
We pondered that for days.
Till our collective wish was clear:
Deliberation pays.

Our colors we soon had to choose.
What would we match with white?
Would the greens or reds or blues
Be seen on graduation night?

The "Pilgrim" had its problems, too,
With printers, staff, and binders;
There was always planning still to do
With deadlines as reminders.

Photographers took all we earned—
There were covers, dues, and rings;
With poem and song we were concerned
Among the other things.

Our program hasn't yet been planned
For our commencement night.
That always makes a big demand—
What theme? Who'll speak? Who'll write?

We seniors on the topmost floor
Aren't really so oppressed;
Our pride just fills up every pore;
We're envied by the rest!

PAULINE ARMSTRONG

FOR GIRLS ONLY

I've contemplated long and hard
Why men will often disregard
A girl's attempts at beauty fair
And just pretend that they don't care.

Now to a girl it is depressing,
When she spends hours in her dressing,
To learn her efforts are in vain—
Might even drive the girl insane.

And thus enveloped with confusion,
A girl can draw but one conclusion—
That, no matter what they say,
Careful dressing doesn't pay.

EVA PAOLETTI

Best Girl Citizen

THE NATIONAL SOCIETY of the Daughters of the American Revolution has for the past eleven years requested public schools throughout the country to bestow upon a graduate the title of Best Girl Citizen. This year the Class of 1947 has chosen Pauline Armstrong as the one most outstanding in the following respects: dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism.

As a member of the Girls' Glee Club and Ensemble, Pauline participated in many musical programs. She has been a council representative of the Student Activities Society for two years, a member of the Photography Club, and has assisted on various committees. She was a member of the Library Staff, and has taken part in basketball, softball, and hockey games. As the head of the Junior Press Club, literary editor of the Pilgrim in her Sophomore and Junior years, editor of the "Vacuum Cleaner", and, this year, editor-in-chief of the annual, Pauline has displayed her interest and ability in journalism. During her senior year she has been an active junior member of the Plymouth Women's Club, and has served as the typist for its monthly Messenger. She was elected in her junior year a member of the National Honor Society, and as a senior became the secretary of this organization and a member of the Honor Group. She was awarded first prize for her essay entitled The American Way of Life, submitted in a contest sponsored by the Knights of Columbus. She has held the position of office assistant for two years, was home-room secretary in her sophomore year, served as usher for Parent's Night and the Junior Promenade, and in her junior year was the secretary of the Plymouth Youth Federation. This year Pauline will receive her ten-year numeral from the Girl Scouts.

We proudly salute our Best Girl Citizen, Pauline Armstrong.

Class Will And Testament

We, the class of 1947, after contemplative consideration and due deliberation, do hereby make the following bequests to the faculty.

MISS ALBERTINI

A camera which takes the perfect picture so that she will not have to waste time in choosing between two for the yearbook.

MISS ANIFANTIS

One large metronome to replace her tapping foot during glee club rehearsals.

MRS. BAGNALL

One colorful bow to tie around her finger to keep her from leaving her suitcase (Oops! We mean pocketbook.) in 304 sixth period.

MRS. BROWN

An eternal priority on all kinds of art supplies—and even artists.

MISS DOWNEY

One sliding panel between 304 and 305 so that her class can see movies third period without shuffling about between rooms.

MRS. GARDNER

A boy to take the place of Stanley Freyermuth in sixth period study to make it an enjoyable period next year, too.

MRS. GARVIN

One class of girls properly dressed for gym, wearing sneakers, and having intentions of taking a shower after the workout.

MR. GUIDOBONI

A sizable roster of runners of reputed rapidity, in order that he may have the material to coach for track next year.

MR. HOLMES
An ideal yearbook for his first year as faculty advisor.

MISS JACQUES
One special air-born messenger to keep her far-off "salle de classe" in close contact with the rest of the school.

MISS JOHNSON
One complete set of perfectly fitting caps and gowns for members of the 1948 National Honor Society.

MISS KELLY
A squad of cheerleaders who agree mutually and perform with dexterous coordination.

MRS. KINGMAN
One opaque curtain for the door of room 106 to prevent her masculine chchfs-to-be from being annoyed by the junior high girls.

MISS LANG
One soundproof room to keep the raucous noises of the school out of her Global Geography class.

MISS LOCKLIN
A complete set of plywood models with which solid geometry can be taught to "two-dimensional" minds.

MR. MONGAN
A senior class with no money problems resulting from its extravagant ideas.

MR. PACHECO
An orchestra which can perform capably and effectively without the present seniors.

MR. PACKARD
A waterproof windshield to insure the protection of his physicists from results of his water pressure experiments.

MR. PYLE

One American History class with the mental ability to learn so quickly that the Civil War may be fought before Christmas.

MRS. RAYMOND

A portable broadcasting system with which to instruct her classes when she is attending to her various duties and meetings.

MR. ROMANO

One class with three dollars in every pocket, so they may pay their ten-cents-a-week plan in September and thus eliminate his headaches.

MR. SMILEY

One 1948 Cadillac which he may use for demonstration to his driving classes and a Model A that his pupils may use for practice.

MRS. URANN

A bas-relief of "The Voice," complete with larynx and esophagus, to instruct a future Demosthenes.

MR. WALKER

Enough ballet dancers to replace those graceful seniors who are leaving the squad this year.

MISS WILBER

One set of Latin IV books entirely devoid of penciled-in notes.

Margaret E. Wilber already in team

MR. YOUNG

One photogenic pupil carrying a camera in one hand and leading a dog with the other.

MRS. BAILEY

One dependable detector for inexcusable tardinesses and unstable absence alibis.

ILLUSION

I see
A hundred things which you cannot—
Elfin figures astride the waves,
Laughing;
The music of angels in the wind,
Singing;
Gay pixies rollicking on swaying grasses,
Leaping;
All this I see,
I see.

ROLLENE WATERMAN

MOONLIGHT SONATA

There floats upon the gentle breeze
The enchanting strains of a violin;
And through the blissful night
Each note of the song
Seems to come
As a separate joy
To a lonely one.
Trees sway to the slow, dreamy tune,
And stars in the sky
Seem to hear it, too,
As they wink and flirt
With the yellow moon.

VIRGINIA PATTURELLI

MIRROR MOON

The moon is but a mirror,
A mirror in the sky,
And all the stars look into it
As they go passing by.
They twinkle and they twinkle
Until they brightly shine,
And then they turn away again
And leave the moon behind.

CONSTANCE PAUL

RAIN

Below the valley's cold and gray
And looks so very far away.
The rain has made a screen, you see,
Between the houses' roofs and me.
I know the hearth fires burn and glow,
To warm the people there below,
But I in solitude still sit
And watch the rain stop bit by bit.
The rainbow soon will shine to say,
"The world has had its bath today."

CLAIRE STRATTON

RAIN

Face to the window,
Nose against the pane,
I silently watch
The downfall
Of the rain.
Plopping at the window,
Trickling down the drain,
It fills my heart
With gladness—
The gentle, rhythmic rain.

RITA ANDERSON

TIMBER

Through sleet and snow
The lumber crew
Will bravely hew,
Until the rain
Will sacrifice
The icy bridges
To the flow.

WEBSTER DYER

THE MAGIC PAINTER

On the window pane I see Pictures lovely as can be,
Painted with an icy brush
By some hand of magic touch.

Delicate trees of silver lace,
Frosty figures full of grace—
Fairies dancing in the snow—

S. A. S. Capers

IN THE fall of 1946 the S.A.S. played host to the members of the Associated Bodies of the Student Councils of Southeastern Massachusetts. A highly instructive program was planned for the meeting to which more than thirty schools sent representatives.

Events started at three o'clock with the reception and presentation of credentials. The general meeting was held from three-thirty to four-fifteen, with Miss Alice Langford of Fall River as guest speaker.

The four schools which had delegates leading the panel discussions were: Abington, Duxbury, Weymouth, and Taunton. The panel discussions concerned methods of selecting and electing officers and members of the Student Council activities, the point system for rating service to the school, and methods of stimulating interest in the Student Council. This session concluded at five o'clock, and dancing was enjoyed in the gymnasium until six o'clock. During the next hour supper was served in the cafeteria. The meal was prepared by a committee under the able supervision of Miss Helen Doherty.

The business meeting was held at seven o'clock. At this time the constitution of the association was examined, the office of treasurer was discontinued, and Ruth Kessler was elected vice-president of the Council, replacing Frank Chase, formerly of Case High School.

The highlight of the evening was the entertainment which consisted of several numbers by the Girls' Glee Club of Plymouth High, selections sung by the Octette, a skit written especially for the occasion by Mr. Claiborne H. Young, and trumpet solos by David Hogan, accompanied by Joan Thomas. The antics of the end men, Edward Quinlan, Daniel Alves, and Edward Wilson plus the piano accompaniment of Eileen Collari lent much to the entire show, as did the unusual music of the German Band and the lively tap dancing of Mrs. Garvin's girls. Edna Salmi, Barbara Arnold, and Pauline Armstrong contributed an element of mystery through their act of magic. The program concluded with the singing of "There's Something About a Convention" with original words by Charles Mathewson.

Miss Locklin, faculty supervisor of the Student Activities Society, Miss Ellen Downey, Miss Elizabeth Kelly, and Mr. Arthur Pyle, assisting faculty members, did much to further the success of the entire convention.

- Miss Margie Wilber.....One that keeps busy during study period.
- Mr. Claiborne Young A photogenic individual carrying a camera in one hand and leading a dog with the other.
- Mrs. Ruth Bailey One who is perfect in attendance and is no disciplinary problem. You know why.

Gridiron Glimpses

SIXTY-FOUR young football aspirants, all with uniforms distributed last June, began practice the day before school started. Plymouth High's 1946 football team was now once again under the coaching reins of Johnny Walker, back from three years of Navy duty in the Pacific.

A nucleus of only four veterans greeted Coaches Walker and Mario Romano, and there were many pessimistic thoughts concerning a victorious season.

SOUTH SHORE JAMBOREE—PLYMOUTH 12 - HANOVER 6

Once again in the annual South Shore Jamboree, Plymouth High drew Hanover as an opponent. Before a crowd of twelve thousand spectators, Plymouth High topped Hanover, with Captain Roncarati scoring from the twelve, and Guidetti, a few minutes later, racing fifty yards through his own right tackle for Plymouth's second score.

PLYMOUTH OVERPOWERS ROCKLAND

Plymouth High made its most impressive schoolboy football opening in many years at Stephen's Field as they outrushed and outplayed a heavier Rockland High team to win, 12 to 0. Rockland had little to show in offensive power, the Plymouth line showing a stubborn defense, issuing only one first down, and that in the last period on a forward pass. Captain Roncarati scored the first touchdown in the first quarter as he raced through his right for sixty-two yards. In the fourth period, after a sustained drive from his own forty-six yard line, Ted Young, Plymouth quarterback, raced twenty-two yards behind three-man interference on a left-end sweep for the second score. The previous Saturday, Plymouth walloped a make-shift Alumni team, 31 to 0.

PLYMOUTH OUTLASTS BRIDGEWATER—27 to 14

Plymouth High traveled to Bridgewater for their next game, and in a free scoring game, Plymouth emerged victorious. Bob Costa drew first blood on a twenty-five yard run putting Plymouth ahead, 6 to 0. The next time Plymouth got possession of the ball, Roncarati scored from the six, the score set up by a thirty-two yard gallop by Steve Perry. At the half Plymouth led, 13 to 0. Bridgewater roared back in the next half and scored a touchdown, making the score 13 to 7. Ted Young put Plymouth ahead once more by racing fifty-five yards to pay-dirt making it 20 to 7. Another home team score, making it 20 to 14, scared Plymouth, but an intercepted pass and a forty-five yard runback by Studley, right end, put Plymouth ahead, 27 to 14.

MIDDLEBORO UPSETS PLYMOUTH

Plymouth's string of victories was brought to a close by a surprising Middleboro eleven. The strong Plymouth aggregation started the game in determined fashion with Buddy Roncarati traveling twenty-three yards for the tally. The try for the all-important point failed. But Middleboro gained possession of the ball on the Plymouth twenty yard line, due to a partially blocked kick. By means of a series of line plays Middleboro scored, and then added the point after, making the score 7 to 6. Plymouth outplayed Middleboro the second half but was never able to produce a serious scoring drive. A late Plymouth tally was called back.

PLYMOUTH EDGES WHITMAN

By a score of 19 to 9, Plymouth High once again entered the win column. Both Shiretown tallies were made by Captain Roncarati, the points after by drop-kicking specialist, Ken Clark. Plymouth scored first, but the score was tied up at the half, 7 to 7. Buddy Roncarati in the fourth quarter put Plymouth ahead on a line plunge. After this, a long Whitman pass brought the ball to the four-yard line. This was made possible when a Plymouth secondary was tripped up by a Whitman dog. But here our line held, and the Whitmanites never threatened again.

REVENGE VICTORY OVER ABINGTON

Plymouth scored a well-deserved 24 to 7 victory over an inferior "Big Green" eleven, making fourteen first downs to Abington's none. The Plymouth guards and ends continuously broke through to nail the Abington backs for huge losses. Plymouth led at the half, 12 to 0, on tallies by Perry and Roncarati. Bob Costa and Aldo Morini scored in the second half, and, with the score 24 to 0, Plymouth's second team entered the game. Abington intercepted a flat pass and, on a fifty yard run, they scored their first touchdown of the season.

BARNSTABLE TIES PLYMOUTH

In a thrill-packed game, Plymouth and Barnstable played to a 6 to 6 deadlock. The visitors outweighed Plymouth about twenty pounds to a man, but the Shiretowners made this up in speed. Plymouth scored first, with Roncarati tallying from the two. The extra point by dropkick failed. Coming right back, a still unbeaten club, Barnstable scored on a short pass. A rush for the point after failed. Great sportsmanship was shown on both sides, there being only one penalty, and that for the delay of the game.

STOUGHTON TOPPLES PLYMOUTH—19 to 0

Stoughton High, sparked by the dazzling play of Captain Kimtis, completely dominated the Shiretowners. The local eleven threatened only once, then only at the beginning of the second half.

It was the unanimous decision of the Plymouth boys that Captain Dan Kimtis was a fine quarterback, one of the best they had met this season.

FAIRHAVEN FIELD GOAL NIPS PLYMOUTH—9 to 6

With less than forty seconds remaining in a thrill-packed game, Fairhaven nipped Plymouth 9 to 6, on a fourteen-yard dropkick before two thousand fans. Fairhaven scored first on a line plunge in the third period, but the score was tied up on a forty-five yard runback of a punt by Ted Young behind good interference. After the next kick-off, a long pass set Fairhaven upon the Plymouth fourteen yard line, where, failing to gain on rushes, the field goal was made.

LOCALS LOSE FINAL GAME—7 to 0

For the first time in the school's history, Plymouth played an inter-sectional game, the Farmington High School of Unionville, Connecticut, being the opponents. The visitors scored in the second period on a plunge through their own right tackle, but the locals roared right back, only to be stopped near pay-dirt. In the next half neither team produced any serious scoring drive, the game ending 7 to 0.

Coach Nunez — Captain Burgess

Off The Backboard

BEFORE the football season was actually over, several candidates for the basketball team began practice. One week later Coach "Jeff" Nunez issued a call for all candidates, and practice began for the game with the Alumni. There were high hopes for a successful season, as there were two regulars back, and an abundance of reserve material.

Playing before a large home audience at the High School auditorium, Plymouth High basketballers opened their season with an impressive 50 to 36 win over a stubborn Alumni quintet. "Peaches" McCosh led the schoolboys with 20 points; Captain "Dick"

Burgess followed with 12.

Plymouth had high hopes of making two straight wins, but were humbled by a fast, aggressive Attleboro quintet in their next outing, to the tune of 63 to 27.

Playing before 1300 in the Boston Arena during Christmas vacation, Plymouth hoopsters hit the victory trail once again, defeating Deering High of Portland, Maine, a school with more than three times as many pupils as Plymouth High School, 33 to 31, in a thrilling, fast game. Earl Rebello paced the victors with 15 points, followed by Captain Burgess with 11.

The locals then scored their third win of the season, defeating a game Whitman five 30 to 27, at Whitman; but they received two severe setbacks in their next games, losing to a classy Attleboro quintet once again, and to a potent Coyle High Team. But Plymouth High bounced back and won their next two games, humbling Hingham, 38 to 28, and Rockland, 31 to 23.

Before them now stood undefeated Middleboro High, arch rivals of the gridiron. Plymouth High got off to a good start, leading 8 to 6 at the quarter, but was unable to maintain this lead. The high scoring of the rival forwards, Gauthier and Mitchell, hit the strings time and time again in the second half, giving Middleboro a 41 to 32 win.

The Blue and White next lost to Hingham, but were victorious in their next three outings, winning over Whitman, Fairhaven, and Abington.

BOYS' BASKETBALL

FRONT ROW: Linwood Ellis, Ralph Guaraldi, Earl Rebello, Richard Burgess, Robert Roncarati, Charles McCosh, Ralph Haverstock Aldo Morini.

SECOND ROW: Angus MacLeod, Louis Pederzani, Paul Davidson, Mr. Joffrey Nunez, George Scotti, Walter Morton, John Roy.

The Fairhaven game deserves special mention, for in this game the Shiretowners played their best game of the season, winning 71 to 40. Special credit goes to Plymouth's first five—Haverstock, Burgess, McCosh, Rebello, and Guaraldi, who displayed fine teamwork.

Also deserving notice was the Abington game. Here, the locals, playing without the aid of their captain, who was ill, beat the Strawberry Valley boys for the second time, winning by sheer determination in an overtime contest, 52 to 47.

But the Blue and White of Plymouth lost their next two games; Fairhaven gained revenge to the tune of 40 to 33, and undefeated Middleboro whipped them in their final game, 54 to 20. The season thus closed with a record of nine wins and nine losses.

SOUTH SHORE TOURNAMENT

Paced by Captain "Dick" Burgess, the locals rolled over defending champs, Barnstable High, in the first round of the annual tournament at the Brockton Y.M.C.A., by the score of 33 to 22. By this win, Plymouth thus qualified for the semi-final round, meeting Middleboro, winner over North Attleboro. The Middleboro five started off in their usual fashion, leading by a safe margin at the quarter. But the Plymouth Quintet in the next half came to life, and with two quick sensational baskets by little Aldo Morini in the final period, came within two points of their undefeated rivals. But Middleboro's Mitchell put his team ahead decisively enough to win by 34 to 27, although he was treated to a genuine scare by a gallant quintet.

THIS year, to the beckoning of a bouncing basketball, about 20 girls reported for their winter training. It was decided that seven teams would play one another. The winner was the team with the most points. The top-scoring girls were then chosen to represent their own classes.

On February 26, Bourne came to Plymouth. There were four snappy games with the freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors. The freshmen were victorious. The sophomores and the juniors lost after a very hard and close game. The seniors were victorious, winning by two points made by Katherine Palches just as the final whistle was blowing.

On March fifth, Middleboro came to Plymouth to play the class teams. In this game the freshmen won, 16 to 11, and the sophomores lost, 33 to 15. The juniors lost after a close game, and the seniors tied them, 12 to 12.

Again Plymouth clashed with Middleboro in March. This time only the varsity teams played. After continual battling, Middleboro finally emerged the victors.

On March nineteenth, Plymouth traveled to Bourne. As always, the team was very cordially received. The second team won by a very close margin. The first team lost its game. At the end of the season, the juniors seized those seniors left in the locker room and thrust them into the showers.

School News

A United Nations Assembly was held in October for the purpose of acquainting us with its purposes and functions. Various students spoke on the phases of the work of the UN, and the preamble to its charter was spoken in French, Swedish, German, Spanish, Italian, and Portuguese.

While many Plymouthians were enjoying a Thanksgiving dinner and all the fixings on November 28th, resonant voices could be heard throughout the town as Social Studies students with verve and enthusiasm extolled the historic significance of the interesting places in town. Three hundred and fifty representatives of the National Society of Social Studies Teachers were guests of Plymouth for the day.

Student narrators were stationed at Plymouth Rock, Pilgrim Hall, the Forefathers' Monument and Burial Hill. Other boys and girls served as ushers and cloak room attendants at the High School, where a turkey dinner was served to the teachers in the afternoon.

The Christmas assembly was in the form of a play, Christmas Trimmings, directed by Mrs. Urann.

The Senior Dance was held November 22, in the gym from 8 to 11:30. The Sports Dance was held on December 13. Jay Mando played at both of these highly successful dances. The Sophomore Hop was held March 14 in the high school gym with Carlo David's Orchestra furnishing the music.

An Oratorical Contest was held January 30. The speeches pertained to the Constitution and its relation to modern life and government. The following pupils participated: Marjorie Nickerson, Erna Reis, Charles Vandini, Harold Young, and Elaine Wood. Harold Young won first prize.

A very successful Sophomore Hop was held in the gym Friday evening, March 14, Carlo David's Orchestra furnishing the music.

The Junior Prom will be held in May. Plans for this big event were not complete at the time the yearbook went to press.

Mythology In Art

I

Some people do not realize how great a part mythology plays in the world of today. All around us we find mythology in art.

Pictures and designs which have their origin in a classical myth are often depicted on the covers of books and magazines, book jackets, posters and the like. For instance, Cupid is used on valentines because he was god of love. A wreath, a symbol of supreme achievement, is used for books which win the Pulitzer Prize. For many years, the Horn of Plenty appeared on Harper's Magazine. This has always been used as a symbol for abundance and prosperity.

II

Designs for seals, emblems, and trademarks are often based on ideas from classical myths. One of these is the seal of the United States. The eagle is a symbol of supreme power. This design came from the royal bird of Jupiter, king of the gods. It appears upon one of our paper bills and also upon several of our coins. The eagle is shown grasping the symbols of war and peace—arrows in one claw and the olive branch in the other.

III

Mythology plays a very large part in commercial art. Argus camera comes from the story of Argus, the one hundred-eyed monster that saw everything. The Socony-Vacuum Company has chosen Pegasus, a winged horse, for its trademark. Pegasus is a symbol of power and speed. Socony products supply speed and power to automobiles, airplanes, and ocean liners. The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company uses Mercury's foot as its symbol to signify speed. The Universal Atlas Cement Company has Atlas as a symbol of strength. Apollo driving the horses of the sun across the sky to give light to the earth is the trademark of the Murphy Varnish Company because its product is supposed to shed brilliance. The owl, bird of Athena, was a sign of wisdom and well-being in general. It is the trademark of White Owl Cigars. The brand, Minerva Yarns, comes from Minerva's interest in home industries. Vulcanized tires were named from Vulcan, god of fire.

IV

Mythology occurs even in comic strips. Pluto, the pup, has the name of the ruler of the Lower World. Prince Ajax comes from one of the most valiant of the Greek heroes at Troy.

SCIENCE

FROM THE PHYSICISTS

We walk carefree into 102 every morning at 8:23. It is the first period and we do not have to endure any odors left by the chemistry classes. Here we are initiated into the mysteries of mechanics, electricity, heat, sound, and light. We walk out of the room at 9:08, confused by the many why's, how's, when's and where's of this science. Even after the able teaching of both Mr. Young and Mr. Packard, it is still not clear why there is no sound if there is no one to hear it.

LOIS ROY

FROM THE CHEMISTS

During periods three and five in the lower corridor, the chemistry classes infest the air with smells which only we, as eager young chemists, could wish to breathe. It will be noticed in the pictures that the chemists are peering at an assemblage of glass tubes, beakers, and flasks. Rest assured that they are protected to the point where they can only poison themselves with chlorine, burn themselves with acid, or blow themselves up with a glass of water and a piece of sodium.

EUGENE MONGAN

FROM THE BIOLOGISTS

We, in the sophomore biology classes, under the direction of Mr. Young, put much energy into the study of conservation and the gaining of a scientific attitude toward our work. Movies and slides are shown to us and notebooks are made on the subject. We are acquiring much living material in the form of various animals, plants, and fish for demonstration purposes and study. Special Certificates of Merit are awarded by Mr. Young to those doing commendable outside work and this produces much enthusiasm for competition.

Un Peu de Tout

Cette année nous avons fait un peu de tout. Nous avons écrit aux étudiants dans les écoles en France. Nous avons expédié beaucoup de cadeaux de Noël à une jeune fille à Paris. Nous avons lu beaucoup d'histoires et aussi nous nous sommes exercé avec ce difficile subjonctif. On a donc eu une année occupée.

Maintenant, nous espérons vous montrer des échantillons de notre travail. Nous espérons que vous les aimerez.

JOHN AMARAL

This year the French pupils of Mademoiselle Jacques have been encouraged to have pen-pals in foreign countries. Letters have flown back and forth between Plymouth High School students and students in distant countries, particularly France and Finland. Below are interesting excerpts from a few of these letters which give us a better idea of how youth in other lands live.

The first of these excerpts is taken from a letter received from Bruges, a town in the same province as is Bordeaux, in France. Eliane Bantelobre tells us where she attends school and what she studies.

"Je vais à l'école au Bouscat à trois kilomètres de Bruges. J'apprends le Français, l'Anglais, l'Espagnol, la Géométrie, l'Algèbre, les Sciences Naturelles, la Géographie, l'Histoire, Physique, Chimie, Dessin, Sténographie, Dactylographie, Couture, et je fais de la Gymnastique. Pendant les heures d'éducation physique je fais du Basketball, mon jeu préféré."

The following is of particular interest because it is from Arlette Deniau, the Parisian girl to whom the French pupils sent boxes of food and clothing at Christmas.

"Je vous remercie beaucoup des colis que j'ai reçus. Vous m'avez bien gâtée. Et vous remercieriez aussi toutes et tous vos élèves qui vous ont aidée à préparer toutes ces belles et bonnes choses qui me sont arrivées."

Arlette now says how happy and grateful she is to have been adopted by American boys and girls.

"Je suis très heureuse d'avoir été adoptée par des petits américains et américaines qui apprennent le Français. Ils sont vraiment très, très gentils d'avoir pensé à s'occuper d'une petite Française qui les remercie de tout son coeur et qui leur envoie toute sa sympathie."

LILLIAN SHARKEY

Le 15 novembre, les classes de français ont expédié neuf boîtes en tout quatre-vingt-trois livres-chargées de nourriture et de vêtements à une jeune fille de quatorze ans, à Paris. Cette jeune fille est: Melle. Arlette Deniau, 87 rue Croix Nivert, Paris 15 e, France.

Le père d'Arlette était un membre de la résistance. Ces boîtes ont été envoyées pour son anniversaire et pour Noël parce que son anniversaire était le 20 décembre, juste cinq jours avant Noël.

Les classes de français ont soixante-dix-neuf élèves. Cinquante-quatre ont contribué avec cinq membres de la faculté.

Une lettre du Comité de Massachusetts de l'American Relief pour la France, Inc., dont les quartiers se trouvent à 121 Newbury Street, Boston, nous a donné quelqu'un que nous pouvions rendre heureux à Noël. Quand nous avons reçu le nom dans la lettre, nous avons trouvé qu'Arlette demeurait dans une section pauvre de Paris. Des suggestions pour diverses choses ont été appréciées.

Avec les cadeaux d'argent a été contribué aussi un foulard de laine qu'on a acheté. Le prix pour expédier ces colis a monté à onze dollars et soixante-deux cents. Quelques articles contribué étaient: des choses pour école, des bonbons, du chocolat, du thé, du café, une jaquette presque neuve, du fil, des aiguilles, un chandail blanc et d'autres chandails, du savon, des jeux, des gants, du papier à lettre, du lait dans des bidons, des joyaux, un Pilgrim de 1946, un livre de Plymouth et des revues de jeunes filles.

Parce que les colis ont tous été envoyés le même jour, les noms de l'élève la plus jeune de chaque classe de français ont été écrits pour l'adresse et trois autres noms. Ces élèves étaient: Dolores Cravalho, Lillian Sharkey, Clark Griffith, Pauline Armstrong, Thomas Vacchi et Marjorie Nickerson, et Plymouth High School, French Department, et Senior French class, puisque chaque senior a contribué.

On remercie beaucoup les gens qui ont aidé à faire et expédier ces boîtes. Ils ont donné leur temps. Ceux-ci étaient Claire Stratton, Andree Straker, Rollene Waterman, Mercy Barnes, Susanne Taub, Betsy Mandell, et John Tubbs. Le projet a eu un grand succès et peut-être enverrons-nous une boîte à Pâques.

THE LINE FISHERMAN

(Translated from a poem by Francois Coppee)

Seated, feet dangling idly, 'neath the arch of an ancient bridge,
And deaf to the distant sounds echoing from a ridge,
A fisherman watches his red cork gleam,
Sees it bob in the shimmering stream.
The line make a sudden, deceptive dip,
Then jerks to the surface. —A pleasure ship,
Roofed with gay parasols, slowly steams by,
And, when it has passed, the man, with a sigh,
As if waked from a pleasant dream too soon,
Picks up a fragment of bait, and reflects: It is noon.

Flatland

by A Square

FLATLAND, the land of two dimensions, has no depth or height. This strange universe is constructed on a plane, above or below which no local inhabitant is able to rise or sink. The population is composed of polygons of various sizes, shapes, and sides. They appear however, as straight lines to one another since they can view others only in the one plane in which they are lying. The more educated and wealthy a person, the more sides he has. Thus the poor soldier has a sharp isosceles body while the priest (or man of learning) is almost circular in shape.

Women, you will be interested to know, are the lowest and most ignorant creatures of the Flatland population. They consist of one straight line and are quite dangerous because of the constant possibility of stabbing someone with their needle-like heads.

The houses have no floors or roofs as we of the three dimensional world know them. This is, as you know, because of the incapability of the inhabitants to depart from their solitary plane. As a result, the outsider from our three dimensional earth could view all that goes on, in what Flatlanders consider perfect privacy.

By reading and discovering their methods of living, recognition of friends and foe, their knowledge of mathematics, and ways of thinking, we can, by comparison, see reasons for the possibilities of fourth, fifth, and even sixth dimensions. This may sound incredible, yet Einstein claims the possibilities of a fourth dimension. The story of Flatland causes one to reason and ponder to what extent dimensions do go. Subjects like these are much too complicated for such feeble minds as ours. Perhaps in the future, as man progresses, the higher dimensional secrets of the universe will gradually unfold.

GEORGE PAULDING

The Education of T. C. Mits

(The Celebrated Man in the Street)

THIS IS quite different from any other story you have ever read. Does it make any difference to you that twice two is not always four; that there is more to parallel lines than met Euclid's eye—that you're living in a four dimensional world? You'd better believe it does. Furthermore, it is impossible to define and prove all terms, even in mathematics. In Euclid's geometry, every claim was proved by something that had been previously proven. Obviously, then, he had to start with unproved propositions, undefined terms! Also, do you know that whenever you walk, your head goes further than your feet—but for some "unknown" reason your feet get tired first? Progress is made by respecting, but not always following tradition.

So remember, there is nothing good or bad, right or wrong, in our world, but thinking makes it so. This book is full of mathematics, and full of humor, also full of a deep, healing philosophy of life, reassuring, strengthening, humane. How can a book contain so much? Read this, and you'll soon find out.

HAROLD YOUNG

The Numbers Racket -- Long Ago

FROM the very beginning men have counted on their fingers. Egyptians became the first people to count to ten, and for higher numbers they used ten and one, ten and two, until they reached their desired number. Later it was simplified to eleven, twelve and thirteen. From these the Roman Numerals were later derived: I-1, V-5, X-10, L-50, C-100, CD-1000. Compare these with modern Roman Numerals: I-1, V-5, X-10, L-50, C-100, D-500, M-1000. A bar placed over a numeral is the sign to multiply by 1000, as: $\overline{V}$ -5000, $\overline{X}$ -10,000, $\overline{XIV}$ -14,000.—In China, no one could count over four, and beyond that number the Chinese used the word many.—Caius, a Roman, was the first to add numbers by using pebbles, counting in units, tens and hundreds.—The Babylonians used a duo-decimal system derived from watching the stars, which is still used today.—The Egyptians associated the Nile River closely with the year. It seems that the word Nile, written in Greek, is "NEIΛΟΞ." These letters in the Greek system of numerals stand for: N-50, E-5, I-10, Λ-30, O-70, Ξ-200. These figures, when added, total 365, the number of days in the year.—Later we find the Arabic system, our present one, which simplifies the problem immensely. These numbers are made of digits of one character. This system is based on an improved principle, that of place value, which came from the Hindus of India. The Arabic system was introduced with commerce after the Crusades, although the zero was still not in use. The zero was added later, to lessen difficulties in counting.

And Speaking of Numbers!

$$\begin{array}{r}
 9 \times 9 - 7 = 88 \\
 98 \times 9 - 6 = 888 \\
 987 \times 9 - 5 = 8888 \\
 9876 \times 9 - 4 = 88888 \\
 98765 \times 9 - 3 = 888888 \\
 987654 \times 9 - 2 = 8888888 \\
 9876543 \times 9 - 1 = 88888888 \\
 98765432 \times 9 - 0 = 888888888
 \end{array}$$

Original Problem

A crow flies four miles south from a starting-point, turns at a right angle, and flies three miles east; turns again, but this time flies one and one fourth miles directly toward the starting-point; then turns east, and flies one and three-fourths miles in that direction. How many miles is the starting-point from the finish? In other words, if the crow were to fly in a straight line from the finish to the starting-point, how many miles would he have to go?

United States History

Visiting The United States

THE United States has, after many years of war, again opened its doors for visitors, students, and immigrants from European countries. Since the spring of 1946, when America resumed the issuing of visas, there has been a great influence of travelers from Europe. Never before have Europeans had as strong a desire to go to the United States as they have today. America is for them what the oasis is for the thirsty desert-traveler. They want to make the U.S.A. their new home and adopt our democratic way of living.

The arrival in New York has always been a great experience for the European visitor. The store windows and the well-dressed people on the street deeply impress him. At the same time, he also notices how easy it is to get a taxi and a porter to carry his baggage, and how friendly and helpful everyone seems to be. Not only the influx has changed—the whole atmosphere is different from what he is used to. There is good will in the air!

Well-known are the American amusements. It is, however, too great a subject to thoroughly analyze; but generally speaking, what most impresses a visitor in New York is Radio City Music Hall, and, perhaps still more, Broadway. The "Milky Way" certainly justifies its name.

The countryside is very much the same as the European. The towns here, however, have more and better stores; fewer and poorer movies than corresponding towns in Europe.

The absence of class lines often confuses a visitor. Judging people by their conduct, speech, general education, and others, one is apt to find greater differences here than in the Old World. However, it is almost impossible to draw any conclusions from these observations here in the United States. The explanation lies probably not only in the American philosophy of living, but also in the system of a standardized education. Here, for example, almost everyone, rich or poor, goes through the same type of high school. In most European countries there are several schools, ranging from public schools of seven years to private schools of nine years. In a private school a pupil has from twelve to sixteen subjects. There are no elective subjects. Between this and a public school, which is supported by the state, there are several schools differing from one another in the skill of their teachers, the number of subjects they teach, and in the fee paid. Which school one attends depends, therefore, largely upon his financial and social positions.

Education in the home is an important factor in Europe, while in the United States, the schools usually carry the whole burden. Americans, it seems, spend less time in their homes than Europeans do. They are more active and ambitious. Not only the amusements take their time, but various clubs and societies keep them rather busy.

Finally, it may be pointed out that what perhaps most impresses a foreigner is the high standard of living the Americans enjoy.

History Triangle Of Famous Sayings

By Famous Men

In the triangle, write on each broken line the name of the man whose words best describe him. Each name has as many letters as there are dashes in the line.

1. "To the memory of the Men, first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his country men."
2. "A man's house is his castle."
3. "All might be free if they valued freedom, and defended it as they ought."
4. "The world must be made safe for democracy."
5. "With malice toward none, with charity for all."
6. "Don't give up the ship."
7. "That among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."
8. "It is our true policy to steer clear of permanent alliances."

Audio - Visual Aids

Among the many films used to vitalize U. S. History this year, perhaps the most outstanding were the British propaganda film, "U. S. of America," "The United Nations," "Quaint People of the Têche," and "Glacier Trails."

Added to the Department of Social Studies this year were folios of inspirational recordings entitled: "The U. S. Constitution," "The Lonesome Train," "Ballad for Americans," "On a Note of Triumph," and "The People, Yes."

Audio-visual aids are valuable in assisting students to grasp the idea that, while great leaders in history have passed on, their indestructible spirit remains as an inspiration to posterity.
